Greg's Grand Lunch

Greg was at the big grill. He had a hot dog for his lunch. But a fat, green grub sat on the grill.

"I must get that grub off," said Greg. Greg got a good grip on a long stick. He did not want to hurt the fat grub.

He let the grub get on the stick. Then he set the grub in the tall, green grass. "Go run in the grass," said Greg.

Now the grill was clean and hot. Greg had a grand lunch on the bench. He had a big grin.
