

Pip's Rainy Train

Pip the pig looked out at the rain.

"I can not go out and play," he said with a sad face.

He wanted to run and jump, but the rain fell and fell.

Pip sat on the rug and felt glum. Then Pip had a plan. He used his brain!

He grabbed his best train. "I will make a track in here," he said.

He took a long, plain box and laid it on the rug.

The box made a fine main track. Pip pushed his train.

It went fast! His little tail gave a quick wag.
The rain could not stop his fun.