Jon trudged to the bridge. He had a plan to munch the lush grass up on the ridge.

But Chad sat at the edge of the bridge.

"Please let me pass," said Jon.

Chad just sat. He was glum, and he did not budge.

Jon nudged Chad. Then he tugged on him. Chad still did not budge.

Then Jon bent down to look. Chad's leg was stuck in a crack!

"I will get you out," said Jon.

He ran to fetch a thick stick. He set the stick in the crack like a wedge. Then he pushed down. Pop! Chad's leg was out.

"Thank you, Jon!" said Chad.

Jon and Chad crossed the bridge together. Up on the ridge, Chad sat in the sun, and Jon munched the lush grass.
