Staying With My Class

At school, I stay with my class.
My teacher needs to know where I am.

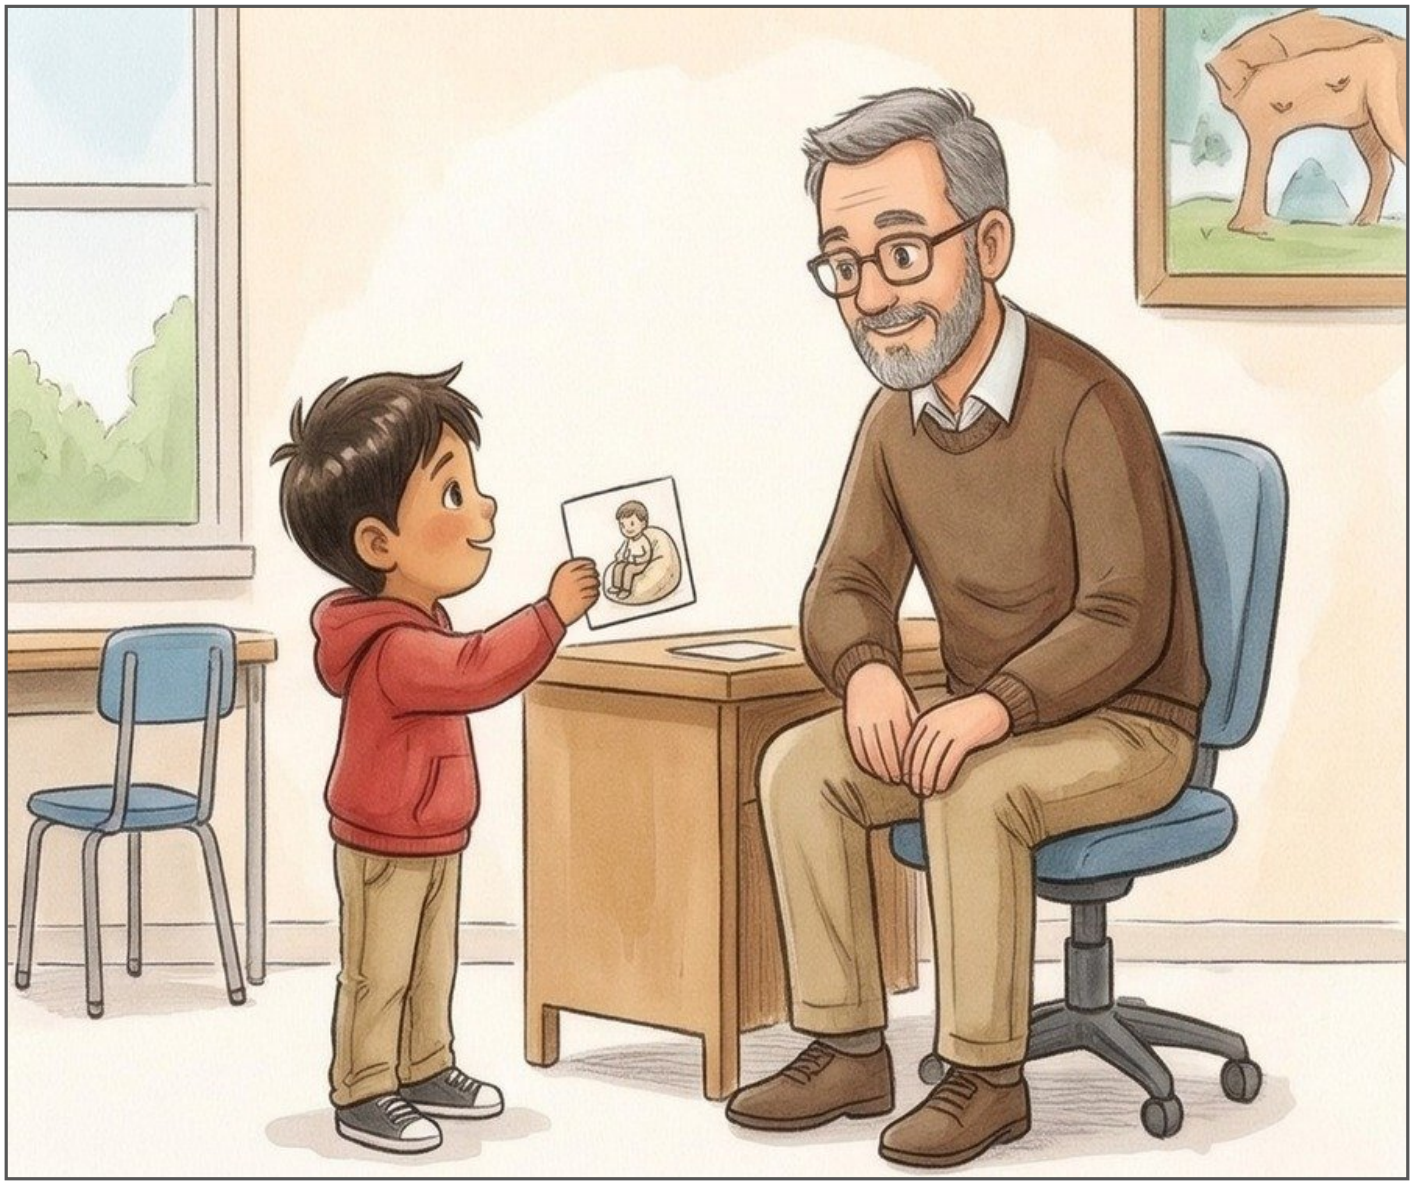

When my teacher knows where I am, my teacher can keep me safe.

Sometimes the room feels too loud or too busy.
I might want to leave.
That is okay.

Sometimes I see something fun,
and I want to go to it right away.

When I want to leave,
I can tell my teacher.
I can say or show: I need a break.

My teacher can help me
find a quiet place to rest.

When I want to go see something, I can ask first.

My teacher might say
yes, or not right now.
Either way, my teacher knows where I am.

In the hallway, I stay with my group.

At recess, I play where a grown-up can see me.

When I stay with my class, my teacher knows where I am.

I stay with my class.
My teacher and I keep me safe together.
